Kim is well known as The IEP Strategist on social media. She is most notable for her no nonsense TikTok videos where she explains best practices parents can use to advocate for their special needs children in the school system. Kim has advocated for these kids for over 13 years and lends her experiences to teach parents and companies to do the same.

Kim handles clients in all 50 states. Her company is based in North Carolina.

Kim creates custom online Elearning courses for companies who employ case managers to work with families.

Happily married with 2 special needs daughters.

Kim holds a Bachelors of Science and a Master's degree in Education.

Kim is the author of "I used to HATE IEP MEETINGS", available on Amazon.com

Kim prides herself in helping parents go from "Clueless to Confident"
